“ Jerry was my uncle and even though our lives weren't connected beyond my 20s, I always held the good memories with him close to my heart. He would put me on the back of his motorcycle when I was five years old and drive me to Pac-Man Burger shack in Janesville. He was a funny and creative guy, I recall constant home renovations and always great music in the background. I inherited his sense of adventure and always found his experience in skydiving fascinating. He drove this Cadillac with no power steering and I could never understand how he navigated that thing. You know, he struggled in life, with alcohol and a hard childhood but I'm sure he did his best and I always felt that he loved us, his nieces. Uncle Jerry, you are forever in my heart and memories.

“ Jerry was a great friend and mentor to me. He taught me a lot about skydiving and life in general. We had many fun and adventurous road trips back in the day! He always motivated me to strive to be the best at whatever I was doing. "Go big or go home", he used to say. I'll sure miss that guy. Blue sky my friend!

“ Jerry was an interesting man with a hilarious sense of storytelling. I only knew him in the 1980s, along with other Iron Worker friends, but he has a special place in my mind from all the laughter he created. He will not be forgotten. My heart goes out to Shirley and to all those who love him. --Linda Schuler, Waterloo

“ Jerry was one of the first skydivers I met in 78', one of what I would define as the originals in Waverly. He helped introduce me to a sport that's given me more experiences & memories than deserved. Blue Skies Forever Brother!

“ Jerry was a skydiving partner, a fellow cigar chomp'n hot rodder, and became one of my best friends these last few years. He taught me much about cars and life. I am sad our time together was cut short. He will be in my thoughts every time I go cruising. I will miss him dearly. My heart goes out to Shirley, to all his family, and all his friends. Take care! Blue Skies Jerry!
