“ There are to many memories, it could be a book. Setting up the spring garden centers with Kenny, him and me. The race to the truck stop south on 330. Delivering plants in the old pop trucks and hoping that they would hold together until we get back. Pulling bedding plants and loading trucks until after midnight and getting our money allotment of $3.00 for us to eat on the next day. Leaving at all hours of the morning and pulling over to sleep and hope that the next one going by would wake you up so you could make it to the first stop. Delivering to all of the Eagle's stores and trying to remember where they were all at so you didn't have to backtrack, and these are only a few that I remember!

He lived life to the fullest, would give the shirt off his back if you needed it. I will remember him for his dry wit and his laugh.

May you rest in peace with the Lord and when I get there, I hope we can have some laughs and share more memory's.
