

David A. Barth

September 4, 1943 - May 22, 2012

David A. Barth, 68, of Denver, Colorado, formerly of Waterloo, Iowa died May 22, 2012, at Rose Medical Center in Denver.

He was born September 4, 1943 in Cedar Falls, Iowa, the son of Ralph D. and Ethel M. (Grapp) Barth. He married Pamela Lawler on November 25, 1964 in Waterloo. She preceded him in death on September 8, 1993.

David was employed as a security guard with Stanley Smith Securities and later with Subway, both in Denver, prior to retiring.

He is survived by his mother, Ethel Barth of Cedar Falls; a daughter, Stephanie Barth Cedar Falls; two brothers, Gene Barth of Denver, CO and Dale Barth of Littleton, CO; two nephews, Eugene and Gary Barth, both of Chicago; and a niece, Diane Barth of Covington, Louisiana.

David was preceded in death by his father, Ralph and his wife, Pamela.

Tribute Wall

SM

“ I have fond memories of David and his family. He and his wife Pam and I often went to dinner or the movies together when we were all young (in our 20's). David, introduced me to foreign films and a life long love of those films. He took me to see the great Italian film director, Federico Fellini's film, 8 1/2 at the Paramount theater in Waterloo. It was astonishing, and Fellini became my favorite filmmaker of all time. David was gentle and kind, bright, gifted and witty we often discussed books and ideas ...I will never forget our youthful and fun times together. He blessed the earth with his presence. On the outside he lived a modest life...inside he was a gifted and perceptive soul. Thank you for everything David! Much Love, dear friend...may we meet again!

---

Steven Mager - March 29, 2013 at 02:49 PM