“ Happy birthday my son. Today you would have been 43. I so wish we could celebrate with you today. We are going to your favorite Mexican restaurant with katie, Alissa, and Evalie. We are having cake and ice cream and we are releasing balloons in your honor. We love you and can't wait to be with you again.

“ Did you know that Eric wrote? He wrote poetry, comedy routines, and a children's book. When my mom, his "gram", passed away-he wrote a poem and read it at her service. I so wish I had that poem today. There was one line that I vividly recall- "so fly away little bird.."

“ Eric, I can't remember a time with you that we didn't laugh. Days spent waterskiing on Lake Conroe with your Mom and Dad. Playing basketball. Playing soccer. Swimming. Movies. Video games. Driving to San Antonio and back to visit your sister in the middle of the summer with no a/c. Six Flags. Honors English class. Saturday Night Live impressions. Staying up late talking. Making you laugh so that you would spit out your drink at lunch everyday (and you doing the same). You were a gift to many with many gifts. God is a good God, full of grace. Looking forward to seeing you again one day. Go ahead and put up a couple of soccer goals for me at my place in heaven. Your Friend, Steve.

“ *My son, my love
You will be with me every minute for the rest of my life and it will be glorious when dad and I are reunited with you. We love you so much and will miss you so deeply. We'll miss your brilliant mind imaginative and practical such a unique combination. We'll miss your quirky sense of humor and I cherish all those times we laughed together. I loved watching you play soccer and other sports when you were younger. We are so proud of you and all you accomplished in your life. You are an amazing father to your girls and love them so much. We will support them and love them for you and keep your memory alive. Let gram and pap help you now I know they are with you.
All our love always and forever
Mom*
