living the life of Leave It to Beaver! Town life looked so fun. I remember too all the family get togethers and how he liked our “ Jim will always be in my memories because he taught a traffic management course through Hawkeye CC many years (probably about 30) ago, which I attended. He was probably the only person who could have retained the students he had for not only the first session, but several subsequent ones. Jim had a great sense of humor and brought that to the class, along with a special way of communication for a very dry subject. Although I never had a chance to totally utilize the things I learned, I achieved a great appreciation for Jim and his personality. I have not seen him in recent years, but will always have the picture of him trying to teach us many dry facts of our antiquated shipping laws.
