The year he retired (1990?) Kenny organized a group from PEC (where he worked for 34 years) to go to Wabaskang Camp on beautiful Lake Wabaskang (Northwest Ontario). The trip was dubbed Long Underwear because we went the last week of the season - 3rd week of September - late Fall for NW ON. These pics are from my 1st year, the year he 'retired again'. Ken with lots of line out, and posing with a good day's catch, Benny Vaughn, and me. I always rommed with Kenny, and we drove up together, so we knew all each other's stories. (My wife credited Kenny with teaching me to snore!) Most years, it was cold, but the big fish were feeding to bulk up for Winter - so the fishing was good - which why he picked this time to go. We have a lot of wonderful memories. People have come and gone over the years, as many as 12 and few as 4 have made the trip, but the group still goes every year. Kenny joins other lifetime members now; Ken Thayer, Scott Toppin, Floyd Danielson, Clarence Brown, ... (maybe others, but my memory fades)

“ Audrey & family: I am sure you know Ken was widely regarded as one of the "good guys." I remember vividly Ken and others struggling to light a cook stove sitting on a wet rock at a Canadian fishing lake. Peace and love to you.
