“ A "few" years ago, a Chevy Luv pickup with a topper on pulled into my driveway. Out pops this kid with overalls and a bandana walking up to my door to pick me up for the Styx concert. Not a great first impression with the folks, but we knew who he was. It was winter, and we had to ride in the back. It was cold but we made the best of it. I had the time of my life..Little did I know that guy, would remain a good friend all these years later. My sympathies to you. I a blessed to have called him my friend!

“ My condolences to all of your family. I will always remember when I was driving home in the hills of New Hartford on a blinding snow storm and got stuck. Buzz came up behind me and asked if he could help and pushed my car gently up the hill with his pick up. Never forgot that. RIP good man!

I met him when I was just a teenager. There were times when I wouldn't see him for the longest time but it didn't matter because he made you feel like it was yesterday. He was so much fun to hang out with. R.I.P. Buzz
