“ We are still shaken by the news of Bob's sudden passing and send our heartfelt condolences to his family and friends. Although we knew him for a short time, Bob welcomed our family into his home and heart with open arms. He instigated getting Tom & I into neighborhood functions again where we were introduced (and in some cases reintroduced) to his other good friends & fellow neighbors. Our son, Owen and his friends helped move granite into Bob's infamous kitchen last weekend, Afterward, the pool table was opened up to the crew while his sister, Emma retreated to a loft room she claimed as hers. I will always be grateful for our evening text sessions. Valentine's Day was our last communication; when we firmed up our next visit after letting him know how much he meant to us. We are so fortunate to have known him. He was such an incredible gift to everyone he touched.

“ We are deeply saddened by the loss of our dear friend and neighbor. We send our deepest condolences to his family. Bob made dinner for us the night before his tragic accident. He was a great cook and he loved sharing meals with his many friends and neighbors. He was the first person we met when we moved into the neighborhood. He loved restoring his home, but would drop everything to help a neighbor by fixing a broken light, or picking vegetables, or putting trim on their porch. You didn't need to ask for his help – he seemed to just show up and offer. His pets were his children and we want you to know that they are all being well cared for. Bob was invited to every family gathering we had our house and I send sincere condolences from them as well. He and I shared a passion for Christmas decorations and he called me Wednesday night after we had gotten home from dinner at his house. He said, “I plan to have the kitchen done soon and we will have lots of room to bake Christmas cookies together this year.” The Season will not be the same without him. The neighborhood will not be the same without him. His loss is felt by many. Kathy and John Nassios

“ Bob, only recently, had John and myself (Michael) at his beautiful home for dinner. We met some wonderful friends of his that live in Chicago. Afterwards, Bob proudly gave John and I a tour of his home's Christmas displays...simple out of this world. I can only pray, whom ever takes Bob's Christmas collection, will appreciate it as much as he did. He was a man of character, intelligence, and generosity. His home was open to any one...including four legged friends. John and I will terribly miss Bob's passion and stories and his exquisite Christmas décor. God bless you Bob on your final journey.

Most sincerely,

“ We are in shock and deep mourning over this terrible loss. Bob was a good friend, a wonderful neighbor, and the savior for the fine old house he bought and was renovating. He had a lot of life left to live and a whole lot of to-do's still on his list. We all miss him.
