“ Hi Dad - Just wanted to say HI. Still miss you 4 years later. Mom is doing good. As you know she is with me. I try not to think about it, but I really do miss you so very much. Sure each year gets easier, but what is easy about wishing you were hear? I miss your grouchy ass attitude and when you were in your playful mood it was so much fun. We sure could have some good laughs. I love you Daddy. Always in my heart - forever and always. Until we meet again. Love - Me!

“ Her we are, 3 years later. I still miss you Dad. I think of you often. There are times I wish I could just talk to you and get a hug. I love you Daddy. I wish you were here.

“ One year later - I'm still missing you daddy! Forever in my heart. As I sit and re-read the tributes I am reminded of the kinder, gentler side of you. The side that I would turn to when I just needed to hear my daddy say - Tracy Marie straighten up you can do it. Here I am a year later, and I'm now the Property Manager of an 84 unit Duplex complex - Dad - I did it! You always had faith in me, even when I didn't have it in myself. The day I got this job all I wanted to do was pick up that phone and tell you so bad that I got the job - but you already knew. But it was the voice of my Dad I so desperately wanted to hear. I know in my heart you are here, but the selfish side of me wants you physically here to share it with. Oh yes - Christopher is getting married. You would like Ally. She is so sweet and such a cutie. Well, I love you Dad - missing you as always.

“ Dear MaryLou, I think of Bob fondly. As I got to be with you both more often at the end of Mom's life, I enjoyed my visits with you, and I could see how much it meant to Bob to have family around him. I am so glad he can be rejoicing in heaven now.

“ Bob was important to me at a few key moments in my life, though I was 15 years his junior, but I am most thankful now for the six times I was able to talk to him during his last hospital stay. I read to him from John 14, Psalm 23, Revelation 21, I Corinthians 15, Psalm 121 and, our Grandmother's favorite Psalm, 91. At the beginning the nurses had to hold the phone to his ear but told me that his eyes moved as I read; near the end of that hospital stay he was able to hold it himself and talk to me. When I told him I wanted to read Grandma's favorite Psalm he said, "91," and when I said, "You love Jesus, don't you, Brother?" He responded, "You bet." We joked about who would get to Heaven first. He is safely there now...

“ Aunt Mary Lou, Cousin Tracy, Kenny, Jamie, Christopher and Makenna,

We are very sorry to hear of Uncle Bob R passing. You will have a void in your lives but know he is looking down & watching over all of you... Uncle Bob R laugh and smile will be a memory I will hold. Our thoughts and prayers are with you during this difficult time.

Well love you all very much.

“ We've had such a good day sharing memories, ups and downs!
From his "tough" love and rough grumble to his joking and sensitive sides. He would love to see this family togetherness! All my love to my in-laws and their entire extended family...
